

~IDDO 3 (27)

(Id'do)[1-5, shortened form of Adaiah, meaning Yehowah Has Decked [the nameholder]

- A visionary whose writings were consulted by the compiler of Chronicles for information concerning the affairs of Kings Solomon, Rehoboam, and Abijah. Iddo's writings are referred to as an exposition, a commentary, or a midrash.
- As for the rest of the affairs of Solomon, the first and the last, are they not written among the words of Nathan the prophet and in the prophecy of Ahijah the Shilonite and in the record of visions of Iddo the visionary concerning Jeroboam the son of Nebat? (2 Chronicles 9:29)
- As for Rehoboam's affairs, the first and the last, are they not written among the words of Shemaiah the prophet and of Iddo the visionary by genealogical enrollment? And there were wars between Rehoboam and Jeroboam all the time. (2 Chronicles 12:15)
- And the rest of Abijah's affairs, even his ways and his words, are written in the exposition of the prophet Iddo. (2 Chronicles 13:22) Footnote