

~MIGRON (103)

(Mig'ron) [Threshing Floor]

- A location at the outskirts of Gibeah where King Saul was encamped when Jonathan and his armor-bearer killed about 20 men from the Philistine outpost near Michmash.
- And Saul and Jonathan his son and the people yet found with them were dwelling in Geba of Benjamin. As for the Philistines, they had encamped in Michmash. (1 Samuel 13:16)
- Now an outpost of the Philistines would sally forth to the ravine pass of Michmash. (1 Samuel 13:23)
- And it came about one day that Jonathan the son of Saul proceeded to say to the attendant carrying his weapons; Do come and let us cross over to the outpost of the Philistines who are across over there. But to his father he did not tell it. (1 Samuel 14:1)
- And Saul was dwelling at the outskirts of Gibeah under the pomegranate tree that is in Migron, and the people that were with him were about six hundred men. (1 Samuel 14:2)
- And Jonathan kept going up on his hands and his feet, and his armor-bearer after him, and they began to fall before Jonathan, and his armor-bearer was putting them to death behind him. (1 Samuel 14:13)
- And the first slaughter with which Jonathan and his armor-bearer struck them down amounted to about twenty men within about half the plowing line in an acre of field. (1 Samuel 14:14)
- Then a trembling occurred in the camp in the field and among all the people of the outpost, and the force of pillagers trembled, even they, and the earth began quaking, and it developed into a trembling from God. (1 Samuel 14:15)
- And the watchmen belonging to Saul in Gibeah of Benjamin got to see it, and, look! The turmoil swayed this way and that. (1 Samuel 14:16)

- Tell Miryam, about 1 kilometers (0.6 miles) West-Southwest of Mukhmas, or Michmash, is tentatively identified with Migron.
- He has come upon Aiath, he has passed along through Migron, at Michmash he deposits his articles. (Isaiah 10:28)
- Migron is foretold to be one of the cities through which the Assyrians would pass on their way toward Jerusalem. Its being mentioned after Ai, or Aiath, and before Michmash appears to locate Migron North, not South, of Michmash.
- Therefore, a second Migron, Makrun to the Northwest of Michmash, has been suggested. However, if the Migron of Saul's day was still in existence, it seems unlikely that there would be another town by the same name less than 3 kilometers (2 miles) away.
- So the prophecy may simply be listing cities to be affected by the Assyrian invasion and that without regard for the order or geographic position of one city in relation to another.
- Therefore this is what the Sovereign Lord, Yehowah of armies, has said; Do not be afraid, O my people who are dwelling in Zion, because of the Assyrian, who with the rod used to strike you and who used to lift up his own staff against you in the way that Egypt did. (Isaiah 10:24)
- He has come upon Aiath, he has passed along through Migron, at Michmash he deposits his articles. (Isaiah 10:28)
- They have passed over the ford, Geba is a place for them to spend the night, Ramah has trembled, Gibeah of Saul itself has fled. (Isaiah 10:29)
- Let your voice out in shrill cries, O daughter of Gallim. Pay attention, O Laishah. O you afflicted one, Anathoth! (Isaiah 10:30)
- Madmenah has run away. The inhabitants of Gebim themselves have taken to shelter. (Isaiah 10:31)
- It is yet day in Nob to make a halt. He waves his hand threateningly at the mountain of the daughter of Zion, the hill of Jerusalem.

- It is yet day in Nob to make a halt. He waves his hand threateningly at the mountain of the daughter of Zion, the hill of Jerusalem. (Isaiah 10:32)
- Thus the Migron of;
- He has come upon Aiath, he has passed along through Migron, at Michmash he deposits his articles. (Isaiah 10:28)
- May be the same as the one mentioned at,
- And Saul was dwelling at the outskirts of Gibeah under the pomegranate tree that is in Migron, and the people that were with him were about six hundred men. (1 Samuel 14:2)
