~ZOPHIM (54)
(Zo'phim)

· A field on the top of Pisgah where Balaam built seven altars, where sacrifices were offered, and where the prophet took up one of his proverbial utterances regarding Israel. (Psalms Chapters 1-41)

· Accordingly Eliphaz the Temanite and Bildad the Shuhite and Zophar the Naamathite went and did just as Yehowah had spoken to them, and so Yehowah accepted Job's face. (Job 42:9)

· And Yehowah himself turned back the captive condition of Job when he prayed in behalf of his companions, and Yehowah began to give in addition all that had been Job's, in double amount. (Job 42:10)

· And there kept coming to him all his brothers and all his sisters and all those formerly knowing him, and they began to eat bread with him in his house and to sympathize with him and to comfort him over all the calamity that Yehowah had let come upon him, and they proceeded each one to give him a piece of money and each one a gold ring. (Job 42:11)

· As for Yehowah, he blessed the end of Job afterward more than his beginning, so that he came to have fourteen thousand sheep and six thousand camels and a thousand spans of cattle and a thousand she-asses. (Job 42:12)

· He also came to have seven sons and three daughters. (Job 42:13)

· And he went calling the name of the first Jemimah and the name of the second Keziah and the name of the third Keren-happuch. (Job 42:14)

· And no women were found as pretty as Job's daughters in all the land, and their father proceeded to give them an inheritance in among their brothers. (Job 42:15)

· And Job continued living after this a hundred and forty years and came to see his sons and his grandsons, four generations. (Job 42:16)

·   And gradually Job died, old and satisfied with days. (Job 42:17)

·   The name Zophim seems to be preserved at Tela`at es-Safa near the suggested location of Pisgah, East of the North end of the Dead Sea. Some scholars, however, translate the word tsoh-phim' instead of considering it a proper name, using such expressions as, the field of the watchmen.
